THE TIMES is pleased to publish today in full the strong sermon delivered on Sunday evening last by Rev. J. C. Cromer on the Cuban question. The sentiments expressed received the hearty approval of those who were present and we believe they will of the entire community when the sermon is read.

The announcement made by Gov. Bushnell that he will appoint Hon. Marcus A. Hanna U. S. Senator to succeed Senator Sherman, when the latter retires to enter Maj. McKinley's cabinet, was hailed with delight by the republicans the nation over. Mr. Hanna has proven himself a man of great executive ability and as he is a splendid business man there is every reason why he should prove to be an excellent senator.

The Michigan Press Association held four very interesting sessions in the parlors of the Hotel Cadillac, Monday and Tuesday, and much good should come to the people of Michigan and to the live newspaper men of the state from it. All branches of the business were thoroughly and carefully discussed and many helps to the making of a good paper brought out. We trust we have profited by it and that we may give some new life to THE OWOSSO TIMES through it.

Ex-Gov. Horace Boies, of Iowa, hits W. J. Bryan squarely between the eyes in a letter written to the Chicago Tribune, and practically abandons the 16 to 1 idea. Read what he says: "Last fall's election was not a victory for a gold standard. The party that so interprets it makes a mistake. It was a protest against silver monometallism, against a possible unsound currency, against unequalled 16 to 1. The party that fails to recognize this, in my judgment, will make a greater mistake. Those who counsel a continuance of this controversy until one party or the other is so overwhelmed with defeat that further resistance is impossible, are no champions of their country's welfare, whether they realize it or not."

The Michigan League of Republican Clubs held its annual meeting in Detroit, Monday, over 200 clubs being represented. The work which the clubs accomplished in the last campaign was reviewed and it is the general opinion that next to the republican newspapers these organizations did most to round up to 60,000 the party's majority last fall. Ex-president P. T. Colgrove, of Hastings, made a short speech of congratulation; Attorney General Fred Maynard urged the clubs to renewed efforts this spring; and Hon. James O'Donnell cheered the hearts by one of his ever pleasing talks. The national league of republican clubs will hold its annual meeting in Detroit in July, and it is expected that it will be one of the largest gatherings of politicians ever held in the United States. Six delegates at large were elected and four from each congressional district, Geo. M. Dewey, Jr., being chosen as one from the eighth, with Otto L. Sprague as alternate.

The Michigan Club's annual Washington's birthday banquet was one of the most successful in the history of this powerful social and political organization. The unprecedented crowd of party leaders and workers from the interior of the state made the sale of seats run high, while the gallery tickets were at a premium. At 7 o'clock Monday evening, after the mammoth auditorium had been turned into one vast dining room and brilliantly lighted and draped with the flags of nations and state emblems, the speakers led by Ex-Gov. R. A. Alger and S. S. Babcock, marched to the platform and the banquet began, lasting about one and a half hours. President Babcock introduced R. A. Alger as toastmaster, who presented Governor Pingree for an address of welcome, which the mayor-governor read rather perplexedly, then followed toasts by some of the very eloquent and learned men of the nation, the efforts of Editor Curtis Guild, of Boston, Judge Albion W. Tourgee, of New York, and Senator-Elect Boise Penrose, of Pennsylvania, being worthy of mention as some of the best toasts ever heard by the club, the list of whose speakers at the annual banquet has included the most prominent statesmen, soldiers, divines and citizens of the country. Gen. Walker, who succeeded "Stonewall" Jackson in command of the Confederate army, was one of the speakers and was given a glorious reception, his subject "Virginia, the Mother of Presidents," furnishing a field for talk that made his efforts eloquent and his patriotism plain. It is an extraordinary privilege to hear and see these great men and the republicans of the state appreciate it. E. P. Waldron, of St. Johns, was elected a club director.

Swart Bros., of the Hotel Cadillac, Detroit, tendered a complimentary banquet to the Michigan Press Association, Tuesday evening, the occasion being the dedication of the new dining room of this most popular and well-known house. The dining room is the finest one in decoration west of New York city. It has a 20 foot ceiling, large supporting pillars, immense windows, etc. The room is bronzed in gold and silver, panels tinted in green on which are painted flowers and vines; the looking glass covers the entire back end of the room and the spaces between the windows, the beautiful curtains of green being draped artistically, electric lights are arranged in clusters and make the room brilliant, those at the rear of the room being concealed behind a plate of gold bronzing, shedding their light through circular holes. Palms had been placed in the aisles, the pots being tied with pink ribbon, a mass of palms concealing in the balcony the Cadillac hotel orchestra, which entertained with most entrancing music during the serving of the banquet. The room had been arranged to seat 213 persons and all but two chairs were taken. The spread was one of which any hotel man or caterer in the country could well be proud and the serving was never excelled. The literary part of the feast was especially interesting to the editors and their wives, and it is safe to say that no more eloquence, wit, good sense and valuable suggestions, were ever put into two hours talking than that by the leading editors of Michigan who took part in the program. Long will the banquet be remembered by those present and the fame of this most admirably conducted hostelry will grow as it should, making it a leader in the country.

Republican State Convention.

That the republican party of Michigan is alive to the great responsibility placed upon it, and that the people are proud of the unprecedented and wonderful victory of last fall, was shown by the convention this week in Detroit, which was attended by more delegates than any convention ever held in Michigan. The enthusiasm was extreme, the eagerness to again cut down the hosts of credit destroyer and makers of idleness and poverty was apparent on every hand. Round after round of applause greeted the convention speakers, and a united band came forth prepared to show the misguided democrats that the people will not sanction the efforts of visionists to slide into good places through their misfortunes and bad leadership.

At 11 o'clock Tuesday, Chairman D. M. Ferry called the convention to order in the auditorium, with every county in Michigan represented, and almost every one by a full delegation. He called Gen. R. A. Alger to the chair and the usual committees were appointed, the convention then adjourning until after dinner.

Shiawassee county delegation selecting Geo. M. Dewey, Jr., as an assistant secretary from the eighth district for the state convention, and Odell Chapman as a member of the committee on resolutions. At the district convention Hon. F. M. Shepard was made chairman, Mr. Chapman taking a place on the credentials committee and giving the membership on the resolutions committee to Saginaw.

At 2:00 o'clock the work was again taken up and Judge C. D. Long re-nominated by acclamation as the republican candidate for justice of the supreme court. Regent Wm. J. Cocker was also re-nominated by acclamation. The nomination of a regent to succeed Levi L. Barbour, brought out five candidates, all ably presented and each nomination receiving the approval of the convention. They were L. L. Barbour and J. R. McLaughlin, of Detroit; C. D. Lawton, of Van Buren county; J. M. Wilkinson and L. R. Nelson, of the Upper Peninsula. On the third ballot C. D. Lawton was nominated, the totals being Barbour, 127; Nelson, 3; McLaughlin, 308; Lawton, 641. Mr. Lawton is a graduate of the University, has been a professor there, has a son attending now, is a man of good judgment, a thorough friend of the institution, a farmer of considerable means, capable and interested, and will undoubtedly poll an exceedingly large vote.

Odell Chapman made a rousing speech condemning the idea of nominating any but straight out republicans. His remarks were heartily applauded. Shiawassee county was represented by Geo. M. Dewey Jr., W. M. Kilpatrick, G. W. Loring, F. M. Shepard, Odell Chapman, Geo. T. Campbell, Geo. A. Parker, C. E. Godfrey, C. McCormick, Wm. Johnson, Jas. Osburn, H. B. McLaughlin, Geo. W. Haskell, W. H. Lingle, W. E. Jacobs, C. W. Parker, C. S. Reed and the delegation voted 9 for McLaughlin, 6 for Barbour, 2 for Nelson, and 1 for Lawton, on the first ballot; 18 for McLaughlin on the second ballot and 18 for Lawton on the third ballot.

Gary to Have a Portfolio.

Canton, O., Feb. 29.—At 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Hon. James A. Gary, of Baltimore, left the private room at the McKinley home, where he had been in consultation with the president-elect for several hours and gave the following statement to the Associated Press: "Governor McKinley has tendered me a portfolio in his cabinet. While it is not definitely settled which one, I am assured that it will be one which I can accept."

Expected Happens at Gen. Harrison's.

Indianapolis, Feb. 22.—At 5:20 o'clock yesterday morning a baby girl weighing eight and one-half pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Harrison. Dr. Henry Jameson being the attending physician. Mother and child are doing well. Mrs. Lieutenant Parker, of New York, is with her sister, Mrs. Harrison. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison were married in St. Thomas' church, New York, April 6, 1896. The ex-president is in his 64th year.

Iowa Legislative Notes.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 23.—Senator Carney, of Marshalltown, went over the state institutions again yesterday, the house having rejected the proposed investigation. He introduced a resolution for one by a committee of five senators, himself excluded. It is understood to be a controversy between Carney and the commissioners of the soldiers' home in Marshalltown. The house and senate have passed a resolution asking the railways for low freight on corn.

Call for Silver Republicans.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Senator Teller and ten other silver Republican congressmen have issued a call to all who are willing to co-operate with them to take immediate steps to perfect organization, and as soon as possible all the states to designate a member of a provisional committee, which shall have charge of calling a national convention. Charles A. Towne is named as chairman of that committee, which is called to meet at Chicago, June 8 next.

AN ASTOUNDING FACT.

One-half Our Imports Agricultural Products.

A TALK WITH SECRETARY MORTON.

Senator Chandler's Memory—General Miles and His Friends—English as "She Is Wrote"—The Ex-Queen of the Hawaiian Islands—The Loss of Her Throne.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Secretary Morton, the retiring chief of the agricultural department, has had many bobbies, but none more valuable to the country than his efforts to promote foreign demand for the produce of American farms. In conversation today Secretary Morton called my attention to a remarkable fact, one which caused me much surprise, and which, I doubt not, will surprise most readers of this dispatch. "Just about one-half of all the imports to this country," said Secretary Morton, "are agricultural products. This may appear incredible, but it is true. Taking all the agricultural imports, including articles not grown on American farms, and the percentage of all our agricultural imports in 1892 was 52, or a little more than one-half; in 1893 it was 48; in 1894, nearly 55; in 1895, 50, and in 1896, 49."

Sugar, Coffee and Wool.

"You do not mean to say that one-half of all the imports of the greatest agricultural country in the world are agricultural products?"

"That is just what I do say. Of course a large part of these importations are represented by such articles as tea and coffee, which we do not produce, but they are agricultural products just the same. Let me give you some interesting figures. Our total imports in 1896 were in round numbers $780,000,000. More than $382,000,000 of these were agricultural products, or 49 per cent for every man, woman and child in the United States. The largest item was sugar, $90,000,000, and sugar is a farm product in our country. The next largest item was coffee, $85,000,000. Next in order was wool, to the amount of $32,500,000. The fourth is hides and skins, which reach the enormous total of $20,500,000. Fifth is silk, with $27,000,000. Sixth came fruits and nuts, $19,000,000; seventh, tobacco, $16,500,000; eighth, tea, $13,000,000. These are the large items, comprising more than $300,000,000. It will be noticed that only $125,000,000 of this total is represented by articles which American farmers do not produce."

"What was the remaining seventy odd millions composed of?"

"Well, you will be surprised at some of the items. Cattle, live, $1,500,000; horses, $663,000; sheep, $553,000; bristles, $1,435,000; cheese, $1,491,000; feathers and down, $2,886,000; glue, $559,000; grapes, $1,244,000; hair, $1,244,000; meat products, $1,052,000; sausages and sausage skins, $669,000; in all, animals and their products, $45,000,000. Why, we imported nearly $3,000,000 of breadstuffs, including $317,000 in barley, $1,386,000 in wheat and $1,050,000 of macaroni and other food preparations of wheat."

"But this is not all," continued Secretary Morton. "We imported last year $6,578,000 worth of cotton and nearly $19,000,000 of flax, hemp, jute, manilla, sisal grass and other fibers. Think of this country importing nearly $3,000,000 worth of hay in a single year, and over $6,000,000 worth of vegetable oils, $2,185,000 worth of plants, trees, shrubs and vines, nearly $1,000,000 worth of seeds, $31,000 worth of straw and $3,500,000 worth of vegetables. With proper development and utilization of our agricultural industry," concluded the secretary, "we ought to cut off a large part of this importation and supply the market with home grown products."

A Good Memory.

Senator Chandler of New Hampshire is said by his colleagues to have the best memory of all the members of the upper house. When he feels inclined to do so, Mr. Chandler can repeat almost word for word any speech which he may have heard on the floor of the senate. He has a remarkable faculty for this sort of thing, and on tests has been known to reproduce from memory a short speech made by some other senator almost verbatim. Newspaper correspondents have endeavored to utilize the New Hampshire senator's extraordinary memory by getting him to tell them what was said in executive session, but Mr. Chandler invariably declines. "I admit I am a newspaper editor," he says, "but I am not a correspondent." Mr. Chandler writes a paper in his state, for which he writes when he gets time.

There has been a good deal of gossip here about the efforts of certain friends of General Miles to raise funds with which to present him with a house in Washington. Senator Allen of Nebraska introduced a resolution calling on the war department for information as to what law there is on the subject of army officers receiving gifts. There is no such law. Generals Grant, Sherman and Sheridan received gifts of homes from their admirers, and General Grant was the recipient of two such presents.

Specimens of English.

Some fearful specimens of English find their way into public documents, but probably nothing worse than the following was ever perpetrated: The other day Senator Hill introduced a bill the title of which read, "A bill to authorize the public building in the city of Buffalo to be built an additional story," and in the body of the bill it is recited "that the public building now being erected in the city of Buffalo may be erected an additional story."

One of the interesting subjects sure to come up for consideration early in the McKinley administration is that of Hawaiian annexation. The Americans in Hawaii are determined to press the matter with all their force, and they have strong hopes of success. Most of the 1,800 Americans in Hawaii are well to do, prospering greatly with their sugar plantations and commercial houses. But if they can have the islands annexed to the United States they reckon that the value of all their property will be doubled because of the guarantee this will give of future peace and order. There are two factions in congress on the annexation question, and it is difficult to say which is the larger.

Liliuokalani, the ex-queen of Hawaii, has been in Washington several weeks. She has tried very hard to win favor in social and political circles, but has made no headway. The prevailing view of her efforts is one of amusement simply. No public man would dare champion her cause in congress. He would be "laughed out of court." I am told that the real cause of Mrs. Domini's visits to Washington was a hope that this government might be induced to give her a pension or some other pecuniary compensation for the loss of her throne.

WALTER WELMAN.

The entering wedge of a fatal complaint is often a slight cold, which a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral might have cured at the commencement. Therefore, it is advisable to have this prompt and sure remedy always at hand to meet an emergency.

The Forum for March contains a dozen timely and important articles. The Arbitration treaty is discussed by two competent authorities—the Hon. Frederic R. Coudert, the eminent international lawyer and ex-member of the Behring Sea arbitration commission, and Theodore S. Woolsey, professor of international law at Yale. Each has a few criticisms to make, but both agree in declaring the treaty to be a considerable step toward a better order of things. Apropos of the recent report of the comptroller of the state of New York in which he advances some rather startling theories of taxation, the Hon. Perry Belmont, the well-known politician and millionaire, criticizes Mr. Roberts' views in a paper entitled "Taxation: Its Sum, Justification and Methods."
